

Pledged to neither Side nor Party,
But Established for the Benefit of All.
TUESDAY, JAN. 30, 1894

Clemency and forgiveness are not mentioned in the sedition law passed by the P. G.

What have the organs of the Provisional Government and the Annexation Club to say to the charges of bloodthirstiness against their own people?

It is the Government's gold that is proposed to be exchanged for silver. At the market rate the $50,000 would bring the treasury in $1000 of "unearned increment."

Guessing caps are in order as to the question of whether the arrival of a new French Commissioner betokens any important change of attitude on the part of France toward Hawaiian affairs.

Where were clemency and forgiveness when Wilcox and Loomis were driven into a corner for attempted revolution? The Thurston Government was appealed to, on grounds of mercy and policy both, to drop the cases when it was found the real offenders were not the ones in jail, but it pushed the prosecutions to the bitter end.

Mr. Theo. H. Davies has republished in pamphlet form his letters from January, 1893, to January, 1894, inclusive, on the Hawaiian question. With an "Introduction" and a "Conclusion" of new matter, the work makes up 68 pages. The pamphlet is entitled, "Letters upon the Political Crisis in Hawaii." In the course of the period covered Mr. Davies has been very bitterly and often attacked, but his arguments in behalf of the integrity of the Hawaiian nation have never been answered straightforwardly. The pamphlet is being circulated gratuitously amongst people at home and abroad.

A writer in the Washington News of January 8 gives a two-column history of the Hawaiian revolution, to show that "sugar was at the bottom of it." After completing a straight story the writer says: "These facts are better than cartoons and the chestnutty jokes about the Queen, her color and character. The jokes and cartoons should be thrown into the fire. The blaze from them will help all truth-loving people to see more plainly the facts. Now that the sugar bounty is to be abolished, perhaps the planters will get along just as well without being annexed to the United States." That is just about what we believe the planters are now thinking themselves.

Mr. Davies in his pamphlet, noticed in another paragraph, quotes some apt political maxims from a work entitled, "The Nation," by E. Mulford. Here are a couple of them: "Political rights include the right of every person born in the nation, to be and to remain in its citizenship. The person of each is to be respected in it, and to act in it, not negatively but positively, not passively to be allowed, as if the nation were only some power over it, but it is to act as itself a determinate power in it." "The freedom of the people presumes that the political order shall conform to the will of the political people." What are here referred to as "the people" of a nation are not the same as those for whom the Star is just now insisting on democratic rights.

The Kind They Are.

EDITOR BULLETIN:

The Advertiser in its peculiar Central Union Church style of sanctity, heads its sensational sheet of Jan. 27, thus: "The men at the head of the Provisional Government are acknowledged by all sides to be of the highest integrity and public spirit." "Willie's" despatch to Gresham Nov. 11, 1893. "We cannot nor will we believe that Minister Willis ever used the above expression in the sense the Advertiser has given it. Men of the 'highest integrity' as leaders of an affair of honor, do not generally stoop to the lowest depths of degradation by using all manner of vituperation, lies, vicious slander, and hire assassins to continually threaten the life of the Queen, and allow the Central Union Church to be used as a base of operations for the assassins to spy, and watch for an opportunity to murder Her Majesty in cold blood. All this has been if not directly done by those of the 'highest integrity,' has continually been sanctioned and encouraged by those same things, which accounts to the same thing. Also, how about Claus Spreckels and many others who were marked and named, that were to be murdered by the hired assassins of those saints of the 'highest integrity?' The lives of the Queen and her friends count for nothing in the eyes of the hypocritical gang. But when those of the 'highest integrity' are threatened with punishment, all hold; that alters the case entirely. It is then they take water and warble in a different key. The Advertiser with its partisan, lying and sensational writers will create no capital at Washington, as Congress has their weight and measure down to a fine point, and will act accordingly at the proper time. Cheers.

A Brokerage Deal.

EDITOR BULLETIN:—
Mr. S. M. Damon, P. G. Minister of Finance, is asking for tenders, to be lodged not later than to-morrow at noon for the exchange of $500,000 U. S. gold for $500,000 in Hawaiian silver. As I have not seen any explanation why this brokerage deal is necessary, I think the attention of the public should be called to same. I may possibly be wrong, but as I understand it, this means that the P. G. have too much gold on hand, and wish to load up the treasury with silver instead. Now as taxpayers and merchants have to pay their taxes, customs duties and water rates, etc., in gold coin, should not the P. G. be compelled to pay the accounts it owes to storekeepers in gold. The Government is in the habit of paying a number of accounts due to storekeepers in town in silver, the same storekeepers on their part having to pay for goods by remitting U. S. gold coin to the Coast. The question arises if the Government owes money to a number of various parties, what is the rule, if any, as to payment. Certain favored parties may get gold in settlement of their accounts, whilst others not in the swim are put off with silver. This may seem a small matter to sugar agents, who also do a merchandising business and who pay for goods bought in San Francisco by simply appropriating part of the proceeds of sugar sales standing to their credit in the books of their San Francisco agents, but to the small trader or storekeeper on these islands, the matter of gold exchange forms an important item in the carrying on of his business and he should therefore have fair play at the hands of those in power.

Tuberculosis in Rats.

For seven years I have been making almost daily experiments upon the internal organs of dead animals in order to increase my knowledge of comparative pathology. The post mortem examinations were made for the most part at the Lamparter Clinic works, in the suburbs of Lancaster, Pa. Here of course were the bodies of large numbers of animals which afforded me an abundant supply of subjects for examination. The vicinity of the works swarmed with rats. Many of those, the workmen told me, sickened and died from time to time, and I became curious to know something about the disease that carried so many of the rodents off. I could find next to nothing about the rat in books, so the thought grew upon me that the disease so fatal to the rat might be made dangerous to the rat's nearest neighbor, man himself. I undertook a series of experiments. My first rat subject was a sick one which I captured in the yard of the glue works, without any exertion. The animal made no effort to escape from me, and when picked up offered no resistance. Its appearance indicated that it was dying of general debility. Its body was greatly emaciated. Its back was arched and its face bore an expression of distress. It refused food, was racked with a constant cough, and in a few hours after being captured was found dead in the comfortable prison in which I had placed it.

My next subject was a healthier and more active rat. I caught him only to mark him and then gave him his freedom. He came into the yard regularly for his rations of flesh from various animals, but gradually showed the same symptoms that marked the condition of my first subject, and in fourteen days after capture he, too, was dead. The post mortem examination of these two cases developed the fact that the lungs were badly diseased. Tuberculosis had destroyed the right lung of each and only a part of the left remained.—Dr. S. E. Weber.

A Follower of the Grip.

The persistent cough which usually follows an attack of the grip can be permanently cured by taking Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. W. A. McGuire of McKay, Ohio, says: "La Grippe left me with a severe cough. After using several different medicines without relief, I tried Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, which effected a permanent cure. I have also found it to be without an equal for children, when troubled with colds or croup. 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by all dealers. Benson, Smith & Co., agents for the Hawaiian Islands."

Cholly Litwain—Aw, let me have five cents' worth of chestnuts, please. Chestnut Vendor—No change. Minda de standia; me getta some. Miss Van Hauser—Why, how do you do, Mr. Litwain? I had no idea you were in business for yourself. Let me have ten cents' worth of roasted, please.—Truth.

Spoiled Boy—Mrs. Nextblock says I'm the most spoiled boy in town. Mother—'I'll just have her know you are trained as much as her brats, any day. Let me know next time she passes the house. Spoiled Boy (delighted)—Yes'm. Mother—Now, don't forget. I want her to hear me spanking you.—Good News.

"But, papa," wailed the young woman, "you can have no idea how he loves me. He is willing to die for me this very minute." "Well," said the old man, scratching his head thoughtfully, "I don't know that I have any objection to that. I was afraid he wanted to marry you."—Hawalee's Journal.

The Best Plaster.

For pains in the chest there is nothing better than a flannel cloth saturated with Chamberlain's Pain Balm and bound on over the seat of pain. For sale by all dealers. Benson, Smith & Co., agents for the Hawaiian Islands.

RIGHT WILL PREVAIL.

Although It Has Been Obscured by Party Warfare.

The fact is being demonstrated that the Democratic party, as it is at present represented in Congress, is unworthy of the President whom it was compelled by the force of public opinion twice to re-nominate. Grover Cleveland was on both occasions stronger than his party, and he is to-day proving greater and stronger. If he had not been surrounded by the half-hearted crowd that he is, the Hawaiian policy of the administration would not now be serving as the shuttlecock to the battledore of partisan misrepresentation and malignity. There has been all along moral force enough in it, if properly handled and sustained, to have raised it high above the effects of partisan attack, and, as it is, we have no fear but that in the end moral right will prevail. Meanwhile, however, it appears to have been left to the tender mercies of malignants, who will endeavor to bedeck it in the habiliments of outrage and wrong, just as Liliuokalani is being pictured as black as a negro, as unwieldy as a rhinoceros, and as low-browed as a chimpanzee. Despite the habiliments and the pictures, so long as the American people remain honest enough to hold that stealing is larceny, so long will the President's course, rightly understood, be approved by them. Except in so far as the questions of right and wrong affect the national reputation, the Hawaiian matter, which promptly brings every member to his seat, sinks into utter insignificance when compared with the overwhelming necessity that exists for action upon the tariff that, nevertheless, fails for days together to attract a quorum. The business of the people must remain more or less paralyzed so long as this delay continues. Two weeks' debate sufficed for the McKinley bill, which had been suddenly sprung upon the country, and certainly a like period ought to dispose of the Wilson bill. Almost anything is better than this long-drawn-out uncertainty.—San Francisco News Letter.

Ask Your Friends

Who have taken Hood's Sarsaparilla what they think of it, and the replies will be positive in its favor. Simply what Hood's Sarsaparilla does, that tells the story of its merit. One has been cured of indigestion or dyspepsia, another finds it indispensable for sick headache or biliousness, while others report remarkable cures of scrofula, catarrh, rheumatism, salt rheum, etc.

Hawaiian Hardware Co., Ltd

Saturday, Jan. 27, 1894.

The introduction by us of a full line of the Standard Manufacturing Co.'s enamel goods was a business stroke that tends to debilitate the nerves of the ordinary Honolulu business man and paralyze his muscularia, while to us it is a mere nothing; the goods are so well known in the United States and are in such general use there that with our handling we will bring them so prominently before the people here that in a short time no one will feel that they can rest well without first having had a bath in a Standard Manufacturing Co.'s enamel tub. We expect also, to make the enamel laundry tubs so popular that the annoyance of lost clothes at the hands of the Chinese washman will be entirely obviated. While these enamel goods are an innovation here they have been used in the United States for a number of years and have always given satisfaction; in every hotel or private residence the architects include in their specifications the goods by these manufacturers and it will soon be the custom here.

We have had a letter from a prominent ranch man on one of the other islands to the effect that the locked fence is the strongest he has ever seen and asks for an estimate on material enough to construct ten miles of it. You will understand by this that the locked fence is growing in popularity every day and that our prophecy that the entire group will ultimately be surrounded by it is sure to be fulfilled. There is no reason why it should not be. Every man who builds anything, no matter what, gets what is the cheapest provided it is, at the same time, superior to another article of the same description. In the case of the locked fence the builder gets for less money a fence superior in every respect to any other method of building. In this country where wood is almost as scarce as gold pieces the locked fence is additionally valuable.

The dinner table of to-day depends as much for admiration upon the character of the china and glassware as upon the edibles. We have convinced nearly every one on the islands that Haviland China is art itself in the matter of table decorations, and our method of selling it makes it as cheap as ordinary white china. Every one knows, in buying a conventional set of decorated china, that when one piece is broken it cannot be replaced except at a very heavy expense in having the broken piece replaced by one decorated especially for you to match the set. In Haviland China, when bought from us, if a piece is broken in any way you can get a duplicate at any time at the same rate you paid for a dozen pieces. We always have duplicates in stock, a convenience not only in cases where pieces are broken but for persons who do not wish to buy a full set at one time. You may buy a single cup and saucer and let it be the foundation for a set of two hundred pieces. These are among the advantages offered purchasers of Haviland decorated china. Another article in demand for table use and decoration is cut glass. We have a very careful selected assortment of this ware which we are offering at rather low prices considering the quality.

We have all sorts of stones for sharpening cutting tools from the coarse grindstone mounted in a frame to the Frank Walcott emery file, but we have never seen anything that gives such general satisfaction as the latter. With it you can sharpen anything from a scythe to a lady's pen knife, and we sell them for fifty cents each. Mail orders will receive prompt attention.

WHY LUCOL

IS THE BEST

PAINT OIL.

Dries perfectly solid inside of twenty hours.
Forms a durable and elastic, not a brittle coating.
Retains its gloss longer than any other oil.
Resists the action of acids and alkalis better than any other oil.
Flows freely from the brush without running and spreads well.
With the addition of litharge, yields a hard surface, suitable for floors, steps, etc.
Mixes readily with pigments ground in oil in paste form.
Brings out the real shades of the colors and keeps them unaltered.
Is a solvent for the most delicate of the new coal tar colors.
Added to varnish greatly improves the working of the varnish.
Does not darken white lead or any delicate colors.
Has greater body than any other oil.
Requires one-third less pigment than any other oil.
Can be added to linseed oil and it will greatly improve the linseed.
Can be thinned with turpentine.
By actual tests, has outlasted the best linseed oil.
Therefore, it is the best paint oil ever manufactured.

Direction for Use.

Use Lucol in every respect in the same manner as you would linseed oil, with the single exception that you may add fully one-quarter more Lucol to the same quantity of pigment than you would of linseed.
In using metallic Venetian red, the ochres, and other dry pigments, it is advisable to mix up the paint at least one day before it is to be used, then add a third more Lucol and the paint will be found to cover well and have a good gloss.

NEVER USE JAPANS.

Where hard surfaces such as floors, steps, etc., are required use litharge only, never use Japans.

LUCOL MIXES WITH VARNISHES

and assists their working and improves their appearance BUT THEY SHOULD BE USED SAME DAY THEY ARE MIXED, otherwise the gum of the varnish may be precipitated or the mixture curdled.

The addition of from 1/4 to 1/2 of Lucol to varnishes does not reduce their lustre nor retard their hardening and drying and it prevents their cracking.
